HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

NASBY.

MR. NASBY AT LAST LOSES HIS POST OFFICE, AND, TO ADD TO HIS HUMILIATION, AN ABOLITION ADMINISTRATION APPOINTS A NEGRO IN HIS PLACE —TROUBLE AT THE CORNERS.

ONIA FARM, THREE MILES FROM CONFEDRIT X ROADS,
(Which is in the State uv Kentucky,)
June 29, 1869

The die is cast! The gilloteen hez fallen—I am no longer Postmaster at Confedrit X Roads, wich is in the State uv Kentucky. The place wich knowed me wunst will know me no more forever—the paper wich Deekin Pogram takes will be handed out by a nigger—a nigger will ber the openin uv letters addrest to parties residin hereabouts containing remittances—a nigger will have the riflin uv letters addrest to lottery maugers and extractin the sweets therefrom—a nigger will be—but I can't dwell upon the disgustin theme no longer.

I hed been in Washington two weeks assistin the Caucashens uv that city to put their foot upon the heads uv the cussed Niggers who sin't content to accept the situashun and remain ez they allus her bin, inferior beins. To say I hed succeeded, is a weak expression. I organized a raid onto em so effectooally ez to drive no less than thirty uv em out uv employment, twenty-seven uv which wus compelled to steal their bread, which gives us a splendid opportunity to show up the natural cussedness of the Afrikin race—wich we improved.

On my arrival at the Corners, I knowd to wunst that suthin wus wrong. I had rid over from Secessionville on Bascom's mule wich he had sent over for me, and ez I rid up to his door, I knowd suthin hed happened. The bottles behind the bar wuz draped in black; the barrels wuz festooned gloomily (wich is our yoosual method of expressing grief at public calamities) and the premises generally wore a funeral aspeck.

"Wat is it?" gasped I.

Rushin thither, I bustid open the door, and reeled almost agin the wall. At the general delivery wuz the grinnin face uv a nigger! and setsin in my chair wuz Joe Bigler, with Pollock beside him, smokin pipes, and laffin over suthin in a noospaper.

Biglor cut sight of me, and dartin out, pulled me inside them hitherto sacred precinks.

"Permit me," sed he, jeeringly, "to interdooce yoo to your successor, Mr. Ceezer Lubby."

"Mi Successor! Wat does this mean?"

"Show him, Ceezer."

And the nigger, every tooth in his head shinin, handed me a commishun, dooly made out and sined. I saw it all at a glance. In imitashen of our Sekretary Borie I hed left my biznis in the hands of a deputy, wich is now the favorit method of doin public biznis. It arrived the day after I left, and Isaker Davitt, who distributed the mail, gave it to the cuss. Pollock made out the bonds and went onto them himself, and in ten days the commishun come all reglar, whereupon Bigler backed the nigger and took forcible possession of the offis. While I was absent they hed had a percession in honor of the joyful event, said percession consistin uv Pollock, Bigler and the new Postmaster, who marched thro the streets with stars, stripes, banners, and sich. Bigler remarkt that the percession wunst large, but it wuz talented, eminently respectabel, and extremely versatseel. He (Bigler) carried a flag and played the fife; Pollock carried a banner with an inscription onto it, "Sound the loud timbrel o'er Egypt's dark sea," and played the brass drum; while the nigger bore aloft a banner inscribed, "Where Afric's sunny fountains roll down the golden sands," with his commishun pinned onto it, playin, in addishun, a pair of anshunt cymbals.

Bigler remarkt further that the percession created a positive sensashun at the Corners, wich I think it wood. "It wunn't," sed this tormentin cuss, "very much like the percession which took place when you received your commishun. Then the whites of the Corners was elated, for they spected to get what you owed em in doo time, and the niggers was correspondingly deprest. They slunk into by-ways and side-ways; they didn't hold up their heads, and they dusted out ez fast ez they cood git. At this percession there wus a change. The niggers lined the streets ez we passed, grinnin exultinly, and the whites wuz deprest correspondingly. It is singular that at the Corners the two races can't feel good, both at the same time.

My arrival hav in become known, by the time I got to Bascom's, all my friends hed gathered there. There wunnt a dry eye amoug em, and ez I thot uv tha joys once tasted, but now forever fled, mine moistened likewise. There wuz a visible change in their manner toward me. They regarded me with solicitood, but I could discern that the solisitood wus not so much for me ex for themselves.

"What shel I do?" I askt. "Suthin must be devised, for I cant starve."

"Pay me what you owe me!" ejakulated Bascom.

"Pay me what you owe me!" ejakulated Dockin Pogram; and the same remark wuz made by all uv em with wonderful yoonanimity. What ever differences uv opinyun there mite be on other topics, on this they were all agreed.

"Gentlemen!" I commenced backin up into a corner, "is this generous? Is this the treatment I hev a rite to expect? Is this —"

I should hev gone on at length, but just at that minute Pollock, Joe Bigler and the new Postmaster entered. Room wuz made for em, and cheers offered em, but they declined to sit.

"I hev bizness," said the new Postmaster, "disagreeable bizness; but its my offishel duty to perform it."

At the word "offishel" coming from his lips, I groaned, which was eckoed by those present.

"I hev in my hand," continyood he, "de bond given by predecessor, unto which is de names ob George W. Bascom, Elkanah Pogram, Hugh McPolter and Seth Pennibacker, ez sureties. In this order hand I build a skedool ob de property belonging to de partment, wich wus turned ober to him by his predecessor, consistin ob table, chairs, boxes, locks, bags, et cettery, with sundry dollars worth uv stamps, paper, twine, &c. None ob dis post office properly, turned ober to my predecessor by his predecessor, is to be foun in do offis, an de objeck ob dis yiar is to notify yoo dat unless immejit payment ob de amount thereof, I am directed by de partment to bring soot to wunst against the said sureties."

Never before did I so appreciate A. Johnson and his Postmaster General, Randall. Under their administrashun wat Postmaster wuz ever pulled up for stealin anything! Eko answers.

This wuz the feather that broke the camel's back

"Wat!" exclaimed Bascom, shel I lose wat you owe me, and then pay for wat yoo've stole?"

"Shel I lose the money," sed Pogram, "wich I lent yoo, and in addishen pay an Ablishen Government for property yoo've confiscated?"

"But the property is here." I remarkt to Bascom: "yoo've got it all. Why not return it, and save all this trouble."

"Wat wood I hev then for the whisky yoo've consoomed?" he ejekelated vishusly. "It's all I've ever got from yoo, and I've been buying yoo for four years."

"Didn't that property pay yoo for the likker?" I asked, but Bascom wus in no humor for figgers, and he pitched into me, at wich pleasant pastime they all followed suot. But for Joe Bigler, they wood hev killed me. Ez it wuz, they blukt both my eyes and rolled me out onto the sidewalk, shuttin the door agin me.

Ez I heard that door slam to, I felt that all wus lost. No offis! no money! and Bascom's closed agin me! Kin there be a harder fate? I passed the nite with a farmer three miles out, who, bein sick, hedn't bin to the Corners, and consekently knowd nothing uv the changes.

I heard the next day the result uv the ruckshen. Bascom returned such uv the property ez hednt been sold and consoomed, which consisted uv the boxes. The chairs had bin broken up in the frekent shindies which occurred at his place, and locks hed bin sold to farmers who yoozed them on their smoke houses, the bags hed bin sold for wheat and so on. The stamps, paper, twine and sich, figered up $346, wich wuz $300 more than there wuz in the Corners. Bascom advanced $46 and the $300 wus borrowed uv a banker at Secessionville, who took mortgages on the farms of the imprudent bondsmen for sekurity. Uv course I kant go back to the Corners under eggistin circumstances. It wood be uncomfortable for me to live there ez matters hev terminated. I shall see if I kant get myself elected as Manager of a Labor Association, and so make a livin till there comes a change in the administrashun. I wood fasten myself to A. Johnson, but unfortunately there aint enuff in him to tie to. I wood ez soon think uv tying myself to a car wheel in a storm at sea.

The Way it is Done.

[From the San Francisco Bulletin

Nearly everybody has heard of the Mariposa estate, and of Fremont's connection with the same, which was long since severed. But everybody has not heard of the latest phases of the "Mariposa swindle." The New York Nation sets out some interesting facts, bringing the account up to the present date. In 1859 a San Francisco creditor of the estate to the amount of $300,000 became the owner of the property by paying off previous claims on which the estate had once been sold, and standing in the place of the first purchaser, agreeing, however, to the privilege of redemption of seven-eighths of the property by Fremont on refunding the purchase money, with a round interest. The other eighth was probably to be kept for services.

In June, 1863, the Mariposa Company was formed under the laws of the State of New York, with a capital of $10,000,000 which was a round sum to redeem the property, seven-eighths of which could be bought back for $300,000 with interest. The scheme was written up; it was gilt-edged in financial circles. The stock was put on the market and sold at round figures. Somebody made money. There was no subscription books; a few knowing ones divided the stock among themselves, and put the proceeds of the ten millions into their pockets. The shares selling from 60 to 74 per cent., brought a total of about $8,000,000. Some of this money was probably paid over to Fremont for his right to redeem the property; the rest went into the hands of the managers, highly respectable men, many of whom paid round pew rents.

At this stage of the business the ten millions had only procured the company the right to redeem, the actual redemption had not been accomplished. It required another application of Mariposa arithmetic to raise $1,500,000, in order to pay off the three hundred thousand which the ten millions had somehow failed to do. First mortgage bonds were issued for a million and a half of dollars. These might have been an excellent security, only it so happened that the man who made the mortgage did not own the property at all. But what difference did that make, if the Mariposa arithmetic was all right? The public bought the bonds; but even then it was discovered that $1,500,000 were not sufficient, by Mariposa arithmetic, to pay off $300,000, and so it was not paid at all. What became of the money is one of those impertinent questions that the managers don't choose to answer. During all this time the company was paying round dividends. At a later day eight or nine millions of preferred stock was created, and it appears that a confiding public gobbled this up also. The old bonds were surrendered for new ones, when it was found that the first mortgage bonds had nothing but a fictitious basis; but it does not appear that the second were any better.

In short, without tracing out all these remarkable transactions, it appears that the Mariposa Company, by the aid of its invaluable arithmetic, succeeded in raising from seventeen to eighteen millions of dollars on securities based on property to which they never had any title, and for which they never paid a cent. Another attempt was made to raise money by trust certificates, which was partially successful. Preferred shares went up until it was found that the managers were selling, when the shares tumbled down from $52 to $13, and the bubble burst. But the Mariposa arithmetic remains, by which process the secret is still preserved of making something out of nothing, and of giving to transactions, which are now called a swindle, a respectable character.

Iron Tank Molasses Brig.

[From the Boston Journal, July 2.]

The new iron brig Novelty, Capt. Havener, has returned to this port with a cargo of molasses in bulk. The event was yesterday a leading theme of conversation in commercial circles. The Novelty was built at the Atlantic Works, East Boston, and was filled with square tanks to carry molasses in bulk. She had her tanks filled with water when she left here for Cuba, by way of experiment to see how she would work with a liquid cargo, and also to test the tanks. On her arrival at Matanzas her tanks were pumped out in a single day, and the vessel was then ready to receive a cargo, which she took on board at the rate of two hundred hogsheads per day. The cargo of the Novelty consists of 84,075 gallons, which will be pumped by steam power from the vessel into pipes connecting with an iron tank, at the Oxnard Sugar Refinery. She sailed from Matanzas on the 19th ult., and arrived at this port yesterday. It is calculated that when the cargo is already at the point of shipment, it will require only four days to load her when it is received from lighters, and, under favorable conditions, the round voyage can be performed in thirty days. The saving by the use of tanks is estimated at about $2,000 on the cargo of the Novelty. The success of this experiment is due to the enterprising firm of Messrs. Nash, Spaulding & Co., of this city, who have persevered against many obstacles before reaching the present successful termination of their efforts. The greatest difficulty to overcome was to allow for fermentation, which is usually equal to ten per cent. To insure safety it was necessary to keep the tanks full, or otherwise the rolling of the vessel would destroy them by the swashing of the molasses; so over each tank a turret was constructed, holding about twelve per cent. of the cargo, and when the article was in a fermented state it would naturally rise to the turret, a hole in it being made for the purpose, and when it subsided it would fall thus by having molasses in sufficient quantity in the turret, it insured a full measure for the tank. This successful experiment is likely to revolutionize the carrying trade of molasses.

SUNKEN TREASURE.—On the night of the 7th of October, 1799, the ship Lutine, freighted with an amount of specie, estimated at from £1,500,000 to £3,000,000 foundered off the sand banks on the northwest coast of Holland, and the greater bulk of that treasure still lies buried, with but nine fathoms of water over it. There were also on board the Crown jewels of Holland, which had been sent to this country by the Prince of Orange to be reset and polished. The Dutch Government offered a reward of £8,000 for the recovery of the Crown jewels, which, with other inducements held out in England, led to a company being formed, who commenced operations, and in a few years they recovered about £100,000 of the specie, of which the Dutch Government claimed £60,000 as a royalty. Subsequently, their operations were stopped by the wreck becoming embedded in sand. Since then several other diving companies have been formed, and they all failed after a series of years' working. The last operations on the wreck were about three or four years since, when the divers found that the bottom of the ship, with her keel, where the bulk of the treasure is, was entire, with the skeleton of her ribs remaining. All the underwriters who were interested and paid on the total loss have been dead some years, and it being impossible for any claim to be set up by any surviving relatives of the underwriters, it is intended by Lloyd's to apply to Parliament for powers to appropriate all money recovered from the wreck for purposes named in the proposals. It is probable that operations will be renewed on the wreck during the ensuing summer, on a scale which is likely to be eminently successful. The plan, we understand, will be to construct large iron caisons, similar to those used for constructing the foundations of the piers of new Blackfriars bridge, and sink them into the sands, completely encompassing the wreck. These fairly sunk—and engineers of eminence declare there is no obstacle to prevent them—the excavation of the sand from the interior can be in a few days accomplished, and the treasure recovered.—English Paper

The Archduke Victor, of Austria, who made so many conquests during his late sojourn in Paris, has lost most of his attractiveness for the ladies, since they found out that he was clandestinely married a year ago to a pretty milliner of Vienna. Robin Redbreast, and the cherries.

BY GEORGE W. BUNGAY.

"You are a little thief," I said,
To Robin Redbreast, blithe and fat;
"You stole my cherries ripe and red,
Now, what have you to say to that?"

In songful speech he sweetly said,
His bosom glowing like the morn,
"I take my pay in cherries red
For working in your vines and corn."

"My sweetest strains I sing for you,"
He said, in music low and soft;
And then his brown wings shook the dew
In showers from his green organ loft

Like tears the dew fell, and I said,
Between the pauses of his strain,
"Sweet robin, eat my cherries red,
I will not call you thief again."

Now every year, when Spring returns,
He perches on the topmost bough,
And there his tinted bosom burns
With songs of cheer that speed the plow.

He toils amid the fruit and corn,
And saves the crops from wasteful blight;
He calls me up with songs at morn,
He soothes me with his songs at night.

The robin is my prince of pets,
I wish him joy and length of days,
He more than pays for all he gets,
In honest toil and hymns of praise.

Under the porch above the door,
Unharmed he builds his cabin nest
And there his callow nestlings four
Are sheltered under his red breast.

The Battle-Field of Gettysburg.

A correspondent of the Boston Traveler has cently visited the battle-field of Gettysburg, d writes as follows:

"On Seminary ridge the trees and fences e shattered and riddled, showing plainly ow fierce was the contest where the fight be-an. Here we find two bullets, one driven nto the other so far that they could not be ulled apart. The supposition is that a nion and a rebel sharpshooter aimed so accurately for each other, and fired at so near the ame time, that the bullets met, and one being a little more dense that the other, pierced he one coming from the opposite direction. oth fell, of course, to the ground, and thus revented the death of both marksmen, which ust have been the result had the bullets nerely grazed each other.

"When we spoke of this curiosity at the otel, a whole army of relic speculators wished o purchase it. Doubtless the sum which we eceived for it was trebled when sold to the nemento seekers who frequent the town. These speculators do a thriving business in he relic line, and have everything to sell rom a 100 pound shell to the smallest wares of the toy shop, all in some way connected with the battle.

"Canes cut from Culp's Hill or Little Round Top are for sale in many shop windows, and f the purchaser is a little incredulous, and nclined to doubt that the canes those places will walk with him, ake any run he may, and make it into a cane in a remarkably short time. One man has made one of great beauty to Gen. Meade, and it is proposed to [illegible] for the manufacture of toys from the battle-field wood.

"The trees which we found of the most along the front of Hancock's and Sedgwick's line were not very distinct, owing to the growing fields of grain and the repairs which have been put upon the farm houses. But the graves of the rebel dead are there, dotting the fields for miles around. In one or two places the bones were sticking out, but generally they graves were covered with clover, and had none of that barbarously neglected appearance they have in the South.

"At Little Round Top the bullet scars are still visible on the rocks, while several large flat rocks near which officers have been killed were engraved with their names and the date of their death. The stone wall which the troops threw up as a breastwork is still entire, and the trees have not yet outgrown their wounds."

Cause of Color in Animals.

The cause of the variety of color on the skins of animals and on the wings and bodies of insects, as on butterflies, has been a matter of much speculation, and of no little study. It has been variously attributed to temperature; to an influx of blood occasioned by the physiological action of certain organs situated near the teguments, and to the influence of electricity.

Dr. Nicholas Wagner, of Paris, some two or three years since, entered upon an elaborate series of experiments to determine whether or not electricity might have an influence in this direction. The intelligent world appearing to him the best calculated to solve the difficulty, he selected a number of the butterfly family (vanessa urticæ) as a subject for his experiments, in the course of which he satisfactorily determined that [illegible] to disorganize and first the pigments, next the scales, and then the membrane itself. Weak currents simply changed the colors, transposing red into orange and blue into red. A still weaker current, on the contrary, gave rise to black spots, and always first to the very points where such spots usually exist on the wings of the insect. In some cases slight changes were effected in the shape of existing spots; and in all such it was observed that the change of form followed the direction of the electric current. Ruhmkorff's machine was employed for intermittent induction currents; while for constant currents he employed two or three of Grove's elements. It was hence inferred that, at least in that class of insects, electricity acts as an irritating agent in the production of the variety of their color. Another series of experiments demonstrated the fact that fixed currents of electricity exist in the wings themselves of these insects. The strongest of these currents flow from the base of the wing to the outer margin, following the middle nervure; and other currents, starting from the same point, cross each other—the colors evidently being modified by the action of these variously modified currents.

The Brussels Star says that Canrobert wished to wed Louis Napoleon in overthrowing the French Republic for the sum of 50,000 francs and the assurance that he should be placed at the head of an army corps, and receive a Marshal's baton in the course of the next five years.

Because the NEW ENGLAND is a Mutual and is a Home Company in all our broad and beautiful country, an American Institution—the first one formed on the PURELY MUTUAL plan on this Continent.

BESIDES it is the only Company offering you the protection of the Massachusetts Law.

For example: A person aged 35, insures for $1,000, pays $26 50, say on the 1st July, 1869. Were he to die on the 4th July, 1871, 2 years and 3 days after, his policy would be paid. Thus:

Say amount Policy is	$1,000 00
Deduct two annual payments he has not paid, $26 50 each, and interest	53 62
The family would receive	946 38

No Snap Judgment here. This is what we call EQUITABLE and MUTUAL.

Five annual payments keep the Policy in force 10 years and 56 days.

HYGEIAN HOME

WATER CURE,

637 California Street,

Opp St. Mary's Cathedral, bet. Kearny & Dupont Sts.,

SAN FRANCISCO.

DR. BARLOW J. SMITH

WOULD RESPECTFULLY INFORM HIS FORMER patrons, and all who desire the professional services of a Hygienic Physician, that he has just returned from the East, after an absence of four months, during which time he has visited nearly all the Water Cures in the Eastern States, and the various Hygienic Establishments of New York City, Boston and Philadelphia, and with this new experience feels more fully prepared than ever to meet all the demands that invalids may justly claim who desire to be cured by this rational form of medication.

In January last DR. SMITH purchased the extensive lot corner of Quincy and California streets, with the buildings thereon, which he has fitted up at great expense, for the accommodation of PATIENTS and BOARDERS, with a greater variety of baths for the cure of DISEASE as well as popular bathing than is to be found in any Water Cure in the United States.

HYGEIAN HOME is the only Regular Water Cure in San Francisco, and by far the most extensive and complete Hygienic Institute on the Pacific Coast.

And we offer to Ministers, Teachers, Lawyers, Miners, Merchants, Mechanics, Farmers, and all worthy persons, especially those who have tried drugs faithfully without being restored, and who are still desirous of regaining health by this rational system of medicine, the hospitalities of our Hygienic Home and Cure. Young men who have become debilitated or lost their health by excessive toil, exposure or enervating habits, contracted through ignorance of physical laws, may with us find more of the encouragement they need, and means that will restore them to health, than elsewhere in California.

There is not one man in twenty suffering from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout, or Diseased Liver, Chills and Fever, Dyspepsia, Drug or Secondary Diseases, Spermatorhœa or Seminal Weakness, Impotency or Nervous Debility, Weak or Inflamed Eyes, Bronchical and Catarrhal Affections, Disease of the Heart, Lungs, Kidneys, Constipation, Paralysis, Scrofula, Piles, Inflammation of the Bowels, Chronic and Acute Diarrhœa, Stiff Joints, Oak Poisoning, Weak Backs, Hip Disease, Salt Rheum and many other Diseases common to Men and Women, that cannot be permanently cured in from two to six weeks by Water Cure and Hygienic treatment. Not only will they get cured, but they can learn how to keep well when they go to their mountain homes, their mines, their farms, their stores, and all this for one-half what it would cost to take drugs.

Terms $20, by the single week, or $60 for four weeks, Board, Room and Treatment (in all ordinary cases).

N. B.—All suffering from cutaneous diseases are treated in separate baths, which are never used by persons bathing for cleanliness. The greatest care and neatness is observed in this respect. No contagious diseases, such as Small Pox and Ship Fever, treated in the Institution.

We have a separate Medical Department for Ladies, which is attended by a thoroughly competent woman, while the private residence of DR. SMITH, which is connected with the Home, is chiefly devoted to the accommodation of ladies desiring Hygienic medical treatment.

We have for the past ten years made the treatment of female diseases a specialty, and have treated a great number of females, both in the Institute and in their private residences in this city, Sacramento and Oakland, who were suffering from Displacements, Prolapsis Uteri, Uterine Hemorrhage, Sterility, Curvatures of the Spine, Inflammations, Congestions, and ALL NERVOUS DISEASES, together with diseases common to all.

The ease and rapidity with which the varied diseases and conditions above mentioned have been overcome, especially in the vicinity of the Bay, fully warrant us in declaring that there is not one female in a hundred who is thus afflicted but that can be made well and happy in from three to six weeks by thorough Hydropathic and Hygienic treatment at our Cure. From all who have come to us and been treated, we have yet to learn a single regret from Husband or Wife of the time, means or trouble they expended in HYGIEIC MEDICATION, for they not only get well, but learn how to keep well.

Terms for Ladies, $20 a week, or $100 for six weeks (Board, Room and treatment).

DR. SMITH gives FREE Lectures to his patients every Wednesday evening, and also Lectures before the Ladies' Hygienic Society the first Wednesday in each month.

The proprietor is fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

While this is going on, our Wallamet valley wool growers are hauling or shipping by steamboat large quantities of wool to this city and shipping it to San Francisco. There is something wrong in all this. There is no good reason why wool should be shipped both ways, and there is no good policy in it. If Oregon is raising any kind of wool which cannot be used here, while at the same time our mills demand a sort not grown in Oregon, it would certainly seem to be the policy of the wool-growers to stop growing the kind not wanted and to begin at once to grow the kind that is wanted, and thus save to the State the cost of shipment. We apprehend, however, that while the above is true to some extent, the evil—for it is an evil—is partly attributable to the fact that growers in this State have held their wool above the market price and thus compelled manufacturers to go out of the State for material. There exists a disposition in the interior to suspect the mills, and merchant dealers in wool, and the makers of market quotations, of being all in league together, to cheat them. We have no doubt that many growers, under such an impression, have sent their wool to California and have sold it for much less, after paying freight on it, than they could have got for it at home. And we have no doubt either that the mills have bought Oregon wool at San Francisco and shipped it back here for less money than was asked by the grower. These facts are all against Oregon, as regards not only our business sagacity but our material interests. Such a state of things should be immediately corrected.

MATTERS UP THE COLUMBIA.—The Walla Walla Statesman complains about a break in the mails between Portland and Walla Walla. The Portland papers of Saturday the 10th inst., which ought to have gone through on Tuesday, had not been received up to Friday. Probably a mail sack sent off the track somewhere.

The indebtedness of Walla Walla city this year, Sote up $3,201 07. At a corresponding period last year the indebtedness was $1,584—showing an increase of $1,707 07.

The steamer Mary Moody, plying on the Pen d'Oreille Lake, has been laid up. At present there is but little trade or travel that way, and hence the Purser of the steamer thought it best to lay her up.

The Statesman says: We notice that quite a brisk trade is springing up between Walla Walla and Chicago. Goods are forwarded from the latter place by Wells, Fargo & Co's Express, through to Walla Walla in nine days. There is a box of merchandise now lying in the express office, that was shipped at Chicago on the 2d of July and arrived at Walla Walla on the 11th. The box weighs 75 pounds, and the express charges through are $45 25. At these rates it will pay to ship the more valuable and less bulky articles, and when it is borne in mind that prices at Chicago in greenbacks are lower than at San Francisco in gold, it will be seen that Chicago offers by far the greater inducements to trade.

FROM SALEM.—The Unionist of yesterday furnishes the following items:

The district schools of Salem, will commence on Monday, the 6th day of September.

Our farmers have commenced cutting wheat in earnest, and harvest will be over in about two weeks, unless we say it a few fields of late sown grain.

For the last three or four days the weather has been uncommonly warm. On Sunday last the thermometer was up to 80 degrees, and yesterday the temperature was but a little less.

We have been informed that the officers appointed to the Indian service in Oregon are to be retained. The latter, it is stated to have come from Washington by private letter.

The examination of the graduating class in the Wallamet University commenced yesterday, and will be continued to-day. Much interest is being manifested in the commencement exercises, and the Capitol hall of the University was crowded with visitors yesterday. The examination of the class will be completed by noon to-morrow.

OUR WEAKT.—Many of our people are growling severely about the heat and smoke of the last few days. They have certainly little reason for growling, when their condition is compared with the condition of many people elsewhere. The thermometer at the highest has not risen but 90 degrees for a long time, and the average extreme for the hottest portions of the day, has scarcely been more than 85 or 70 degrees. As compensation for hot days, we invariably have cool nights, affording opportunity for delightful sleep. In most countries hot days are followed by hot sultry nights, more exhaustive in their effects, if less than the days. This is the case even in many parts of eastern Oregon, in California, and everywhere in the Eastern States. The dispatches inform us that in almost every section of the Atlantic States, the people have been visited this summer either by floods, or tornadoes, or the like storms, or kindred disasters. From all these we are habitually exempt. What, then, signify a few hot days? Upon the whole, there is no people more favored, climatically, than we of Oregon.

MORE "CIVILIZED OUTRAGES."—It was only a few days since that the papers had an account of the burning of two or three of the Chinese cabins—the little village of Chinamen out on King's creek. The outrage was perpetrated by some of the bad boys who infest this city. Last Saturday night, another gang of boys whose ambition seems to have been fired by such a manly and glorious achievement, went out to Hongkong and set fire to several of the remaining cabins. Some of this latter gang are known and their names may yet become public, that the criminal proceedings it would seem to be fully time that something were done to arrest the career of crime into which many of the boys of this city are plunging. There are three or four ring leaders who should be dealt with in some effectual way, and then possibly the others may conclude to pursue better courses.

A VERY PLIABLE FIDDLE.—The Commercial tells of a violin which now belongs to Mr. John Everest, the leader of the Mechanics' Brass Brand, and which has belonged to the Everest family for nearly two hundred years a remarkably venerable instrument, truly. In the course of time it has been broken into several hundred pieces, which have been skillfully put together, and still the old fiddle retains a fair outside and a magically sweet tone. Of course, on account of its age and the family associations connected with it, Mr. Everest prizes it very highly—would not, in fact, part with it at any price.

STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—The State Teachers' Association will hold its annual session in Salem, says the Farmer, commencing July 27th, and continuing four days. Those persons having addresses, essays, etc., to read before the Association, will please inform the executive committee the day previous to the session. Members and friends attending the Association will be entertained during the session by calling on Prof. Frambes, Salem. The steamboats and stage will convey such to and from Salem for half pay.

NEW BOARDING HOUSE.—Several workmen are engaged in making such alterations as are necessary, says the Courier, in fitting up the building at the corner of Front and Alder streets, opposite Woodard's drug store, for a large boarding house. Mr. Ryan, formerly one of the proprietors of the What Cheer House, is to be the proprietor of the establishment, we believe. The building is being subjected to a thorough overhauling, in the way of removing partitions, plastering, whitewashing, etc., etc.

FROM EASTERN OREGON.—Messrs. Earhart, of Salem, and Shurtleff, of the Grand Ronde Indian Agency, came down from the Warm Springs Reservation via the Dalles, yesterday. They report everything all right at the reservation, but complain of the extremely hot weather they experienced. Mr. Shurtleff thinks that on Monday the thermometer must have stood at very near one hundred in the shade. The night following was nearly as hot. Of course everything is dried up.

CORRECTION.—In the published manifest of the schooner Meldon, one of the consignees appeared as "D. H. in diamond & Co. 730 pkgs." The consignment was to M. Jackson, Sanderson & Co., and should have been so published. It consists of a very large, varied and fine assortment of glassware, crockery, domestic cutlery, ornamental wares, etc., purchased by Mr. Jackson when at New York, last spring.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION.—On Monday, the 12th, the Walla Walla city election took place. Frank Stone was elected Mayor, beating Frank P. Dugan, 96 to 86. The other officers elected were: Recorder, O. P. Lacy; Marshal, Ed. Delaney; Treasurer, H. E. Johnson; Assessor, J. M. Bourn; Surveyor, A. H. Simmons; City Council, P. M. Lynch, Thos. Tierney, James Jones, Thos. Quinn and W. S. Minear.

BEER.—We are indebted to Mr. H. Ludwig of the East Portland Brewery, for a half dozen specimen bottles of a new kind of beer which he is now manufacturing. It is much more pleasant to the taste than the sort we usually get from the brewers, and is said to be healthful.

LADIES' FAIR AND FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the First Presbyterian congregation of this city will have a sociable and festival at the basement of the church this evening. All friends are invited to attend.

DRAMATIC READINGS.—Miss Mattie Field gave a dramatic reading at Walla Walla last Saturday evening, consisting of selections from Hamlet and Macbeth, poem of the O'Brien, etc.

JURYMEN DISCHARGED.—All the jurymen in attendance upon the Circuit Court, except those serving in the case of Brown vs Tidd & Wyman, were discharged, yesterday, for the term.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamship Moses Taylor, Master, commander, will sail for San Francisco via Victoria, at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—In the Circuit Court, on Monday, the case of Wm. O'Brien vs. Tidd & Wyman, was argued and submitted.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of Mr. H. Wasserman was attended yesterday by a large concourse of people.

EVERY DAY, at No. 107 Front street, one door above McCormick's, you can see KANE'S CONDENSED SOAP wash without rubbing.

ENDORSEMENTS.

OLYMPIA, W. T., March 27, 1869.

C. A. WHITE, Esq.—Dear Sir: Having examined your original map, embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I desire to add my testimony to its value. Having been engaged for a number of years in the surveys from Cape Flattery to the Head of Puget Sound, I have examined this portion of your map more critically than others, and I take pleasure in vouching for its general correctness.

This map will fill a want that has long been felt, not only among the residents of the Territory, but others, who are desirous of obtaining information of this portion of the "Far West," and I trust that we shall soon see it in a form suitable for general distribution.

JAS. S. LAWSON,
Asst. U. S. C. S.

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jas. S. Lawson, Esq., and will add that Mr. Chas. A. White is a practical surveyor, and has had access to the township maps in the two Land Offices in this Territory, as also the Coast Survey charts; and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains, as being correct, and the only good map of the same territory that has been made.

THERE IS MESS THIS USUAL THICKNESS

viz: in the back of the handle, back of the bowl and prongs of forks. In some cases of the handle and breast or points of tines of forks, as illustrated in cut.

This mode of Electro Plating greatly exceeds the old way of plating. The great advantage will be readily seen, as spoons and forks always wear through on these exposed points, while the plate is yet good on other parts of the article. This new process will add THREE TIMES TO THE DURABILITY of goods so plated.

Knives, forks and spoons stamped "1847 ROGERS BROTHERS AI XII," are Electro Plated by the new Patented Process.

We have now been before the public since 1852, manufacturing ELECTRO-PLATED GOODS, which have stood the most severe tests of wear in hotels, steamers and private families, and have given universal satisfaction, supplying, as it does, all of the advantages of silver in durability and beauty. We wish to call particular attention to the hardness and firmness of our White Metal, which exceeds anything of the kind made in this country. All goods plated on this metal bear our trade mark, and the plating is warranted THREE TIMES THE USUAL THICKNESS.

Sandford, Insurance Commissioner of Massachusetts, in his Report for 1868, speaking of Dividends in Life Insurance Companies, says: "The sooner such guarantees come to be made, and such expectations created, the sooner Life Insurance will come to rest on its true motive, and men insure their lives for security, and not for dividends. The best and most popular companies will then be those that promise only equity, and render all that they promise, and furnish the best security, with the most upright and judicious management."

"By the Stock plan, the full cash effect of the Premium is immediately secured to the Insured, the Company taking ALL the risk. By the Mutual plan, the full value in Insurance of the Premium paid, is not secured to the Policy-holder, who takes a portion of the risk himself."

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 21, 1869.

Origin of the "Protective System."

The measures which were taken after the close of the conflict of 1812 to repair the losses of the war, to provide for the payment of the national debt and to promote the prosperity of the country, may be pertinently cited now as a lesson to those who find fault with the present policy of the Government and urge free trade as the real remedy to be adopted. When the war closed in 1815 Congress at once took hold of the financial question, and the measures then devised led to the extinguishment of the debt in the space of fourteen years. In his message to Congress President Madison recommended such a tariff as would "relieve the United States from a dependence on foreign supplies." The Congress, which was then Democratic by nearly two to one, enacted a tariff which in all its features was designed to be protective. The duty on pig iron was seven dollars a ton, which was soon increased to ten. Democrats now tell us that a duty of nine dollars on this article is ruinous. The duties on cottons and woolens were fixed at rates which it was thought would give most protection to American manufactures. At the same time the internal taxes on manufactures were largely reduced,—a policy which has been imitated by Congress since the close of the war of the rebellion. The present tariff is very similar to that which was enacted at the close of the war of 1812; so that the country is now following substantially the same policy which led to the extinguishment of the debt after the second war with England.

In connection with the history of this matter it is worth while to mention that New England was opposed to protective tariffs in 1816 and again in 1824 when the tariff was revised and the duties on many articles fixed at a still higher figures. New England was then engaged in commercial pursuits and wanted free trade. But South Carolina and other Southern States insisted on the protective system and established it. After this became the fixed policy of the country the people of New England, never poor in resources and never slow in turning them to account, abandoned their shipping or left it to its chances, and took to manufactures. Though they had been taught, like the sons of Rob Roy, to despise spinning and weaving and all such mechanical occupations, they soon changed their habits and New England became the bulwark of the protective system. But the West and South are now beginning to manufacture largely for themselves and New England is again on the career towards free trade.

The history of the earlier tariffs shows that they were mainly Democratic measures. That of 1824 was popular with that party. Gen. Jackson adopted it and wrote his celebrated Coleman letter, in which he argued that we should do everything for ourselves and not depend on foreign labor. The New York leaders of the party were for it, and gave their support to the still higher tariff of 1828. In 1832 General Jackson by his firmness quelled the rising rebellion in South Carolina, which had been part of opposition to the tariff—that State having abandoned its first position and swung round to free trade. The slaveholders generally became free traders, and the Northern Democracy, which since 1840 has been subservient to them, became free traders also at the bidding of their political masters. The present free trade notions of the Democratic party are derived entirely from this source; though in earlier times protection was a very respectable Democratic doctrine. If Democratic writers of the present day would look a little into the history of this matter, the result might afford them much valuable information.

Alaska.

From the Alaska Times we learn that the Committee appointed last February to consider the subject of protecting the seal trade reported at a meeting held on the 1st July. The Committee find that the Russian Fur Company reported to have taken away during 1868-7 from the islands of Onnalaska, Omega, St. Michael, Atcha, Alton, Kodiac and Cook's Inlet, 7,270 muskrats, 558 lynx, 6,738 martins, 226 bears, 18,476 beavers, 6,738 foxes, 2,765 land otters and 3,905 sea otters. These the Committee have estimated at $350,000. They took from the islands of St. Paul and St. George 137,943 fur seals and 3,657 foxes, valued at $900,000. The Committee find that the total value of the furs taken by the Russian-American Fur Company from the islands named, during the years of 1866 and 1867 to be $1,250,900, an annual average of $625,000; besides the seal oil, worth, at the very lowest estimate, $75,000 per annum after leaving seals enough to supply food for the natives, to say nothing about the very rich fertilizing deposits from the decomposed bones and flesh of the seals for more than forty years. It is the opinion of the Committee that the value of the fur trade of the country may easily be increased to $1,400,000 per annum, which opinion, if correct, shows that Mr. Seward's bargain in a financial point of view was a very good one. The Committee think further that there is no need of limiting the number of seals to be killed annually to 100,000, as in their opinion a much larger number might be killed without injury. They are also opposed to granting the right to take seals to any one company. This plan, however, is one which we think would be beneficial to the whole people of the country, as it would bring the Government the largest revenue. The following is the conclusion of the report: "We regret that our limited time would not allow an extended inquiry into the undeveloped resources of Alaska, though from the incidental knowledge which we have acquired in our investigations relative to the fur trade of our islands, we are persuaded that its resources are far more extensive and important than generally believed. We think that the Government ought to extend its aid to encourage immigration, and we therefore recommend Congress to establish, at an early day, a Territorial Government over the country. And we would also advise the appointment of another Committee to collect information, and to report as soon as convenient, for the purpose of attracting public attention to a Territory which if properly developed, will prove to be a very valuable acquisition."

We have received several long communications from Grant county relative to the Dalles Military road which we have not published because they are not in proper shape for publication and the labor of rewriting them would be too great. Before they could appear in print it would be necessary to rewrite them entire; and it may readily be supposed that to deal thus with twenty closely written pages of manuscript would be quite a task for a person who has so much on his hands as an editor a daily paper.

In General.

Democratic papers all over the Union are shouting with joy over the Virginia election. The election was a victory for the Fifteenth Amendment. Exult, then, Messrs Democrats! The "Radicals" can stand it.

John C. Breckinridge recently "thanked God for the old flag." The Detroit Advertiser says he has reason to, because under no other flag in the world would he go into a villainous rebellion for four years and come out unhung.

Latest Eastern papers give accounts of the crops which show that in most of the States the yield of wheat will be good, though we cannot tell yet how far harvest operations may have been interfered with by the heavy rains which have been reported in many sections. There will certainly be a large deficiency in corn.

The Herald is mightily pleased to hear that there are some dissensions among the "Radicals" in Missouri and elsewhere. That paper rejoices that the "Republicans are fighting one another," and gleefully says that these are signs "which indicate a grand tumbling down of the mighty castle which Republicans have built upon the sand." Now as there is no Democracy to fight, the present is the very time for the Republicans to settle their family affairs. But whenever Democracy raises its head again the Herald may be certain that the Republicans will be prepared as one man, to hit it another stunning blow.

The Commercial says the OREGONIAN is "endeavoring to set itself right on the west side railroad question," and declares that "the motive is not creditable." It also says that "the course of the OREGONIAN has been such as to strengthen the Holladay enterprise, and by silence and innuendoes, it has thrown cold water on the west side project." Now we can tell this fussy little sheet that the OREGONIAN has never been wrong "on the west side question," nor has it ever attempted to throw a straw in the way of the enterprise. Nor has it been "silent" in regard to the project, but has always given the public all the information obtainable relative to the prospects and progress of the road. Its articles on the west side road have been quite as numerous as those on the east side enterprise, and on all occasions it has spoken of both without partiality. We have several times made a personal examination of the progress of work on both sides for the purpose of furnishing the public with information on the subject. But we declined to take any part in the quarrel between them, satisfied that the controversy was not one to be settled through the newspapers, but by mutual agreement of the parties or in the courts. The Commercial was a west side organ and fought the east side with all its might, and because we did not take the same course it has been asserting at every opportunity that we were opposing the west side. The OREGONIAN has always been in favor of every road which can be built, and declines to be an "organ" to do the bidding of any. It pursues an independent course and never yields to such "persuasions" as move the Commercial.

The French Atlantic Cable.

An Eastern journal of engineering has an article which presents a full account of the cable just laid between France and America. This cable, as compared with its predecessors, has some modifications of construction. We present the following summary from the article alluded to:

The gutta-percha employed for insulating is brought direct from Singapore, as it left the hands of the natives, in the shape of unsightly idols, deformed quadrupeds, caricatures of patriarchs; dogs, ships and birds; and is made into paste for protecting the electric core. The copper wire is received from the wire mills in hanks of fifteen or twenty pounds each; each hank being tested on its arrival to ascertain its conductivity, none below a standard being allowed to be used. The conductor consists of a strand of seven wires, 0.56 inch in diameter; or a little less than one-sixteenth of an inch, six being twisted round the central wire. The seven wires are rendered perfectly compact by the coating of the central wire with an adhesive matter known as "Chatterton's Compound." The weight of the complete strand is four hundred pounds per nautical mile. It is made in lengths of about one mile, and wound on reels ready to be covered with gutta-percha. The strand is passed through a vessel of Chatterton's Compound, and through a die corresponding to the size of the first coating of gutta-percha, which is forced round the strand as it passes through the die. Four successive coats are thus applied, and between each coating the wire receives a film of the compound, which improves the insulation and binds the coats together. The total weight of the core is 800 pounds per nautical mile, equally divided between the copper and the gutta-percha. The total length of the cable for the section between Brest and St. Pierre is 2,738 nautical miles, the second section thence to New York 776 miles long, with smaller wire consisting of a conductor of 107 pounds per nautical mile, and a covering 150 pounds per mile. The cable thus prepared is finished with a serving of jute yarn and ten wires of homogeneous iron, each of which is covered with manilla yarn steeped in tar.

THE OFFICIAL VOTE FOR 1867 AND 1869.—The following is the vote cast in Washington Territory for Delegate to Congress, in 1867 and 1869, as shown by the returns in the Secretary's office:

DECIDED WITHOUT OREGON.—It has often been stated that the Fifteenth Amendment was certain of ratification without the vote of Oregon or California, and therefore the question could not come before our people. The New York Herald, without intending to affect our situation, or to rob the Copperheads of thunder, takes the same view. It says:

The Florida ratification makes, we believe, the twenty-fifth States that has ratified the Fifteenth Amendment. The whole number of States at present is thirty-seven. The approval by the Legislatures of three fourths of these thirty-seven is necessary to fix this amendment as part of the "supreme law of the land." Twenty-eight States, therefore, being necessary, three more will yet be needed to meet the requisition. Under the late reconstruction law Virginia, Mississippi and Texas, as a condition precedent to restoration to Congress, are required to ratify this amendment. Rhode Island and Vermont will ratify it. In short, with the re assembling of Congress in December, we may expect impartial suffrage to be proclaimed as fixed in the supreme law.

This amendment will be adopted before our Legislature meets, and we may vote no or yes, the result will be the same.

"Labor and wait" is the advice of the poet. The practical suggestion of the world is, labor, and go and get your pay for it. Poets believe in fancy: labor in fact—cash fact.

OREGON.

A citizen of Jackson county found ten bee trees last week. Another found and cut down a tree which contained 150 pounds of honey.

It is said that Rogue river is now as low as it usually is in August. It will probably be lower in a month than it has ever been seen before.

Says the Jacksonville Sentinel: The very dry winter has given us a very prolific crop of "Yellow Jackets" this summer. They are rapidly eating up all the ripe black berries, and that fruit has doubled in price in consequence.

A Southern Oregon paper is informed by Hon. B Herman that a preliminary survey is being pushed on the Roseburg and Coos Bay road. The company have not yet decided on the route, and it is doubtful if an official survey can be made this summer.

The Polk county paper says: The farmers all about this neighborhood are busily engaged in harvesting their crops, and few complaints are heard save of the scarcity of hands. Farmers are in town every day looking for help, but have to go home without it. $2 per day are the ruling wages.

A man named Rose, a nephew of Aaron Rose of Douglas county, was accidentally killed on the line of the Umpqua and Coos Bay Wagon road on the 7th inst. He had been felling a tree to clear the way for the surveyors, and had cut it about half through, when it split and a large splinter struck him on the head, killing him instantly.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says there is much danger of trouble with Indians east of the mountains, and adds: Twelve hundred Snakes from Camps Harney, Warner and C. F. Smith have gone to the mountains headed by some desperate whites like Archy McIntosh. The Indians in the Klamath Lake country are much disgusted and dissatisfied, and it is no childs play to manage them. The cavalry, the only efficient kind of troops against Indians, are taken from Fort Klamath and the whole frontier is filled with unsuspecting settlers. There are over one hundred Snakes of Old Paulina's band, on the Klamath reservation, and it requires the greatest vigilance on the part of the sub-agent to keep them quiet. The removal of the cavalry from that point and the substitution of infantry was an act of folly, as in case of need, infantry against mounted Indians in an extensive prairie country are worse than useless, being only the laughing stock of the "braves." The presence of a cavalry force in the Lake country is absolutely necessary to control the Indians; and an infantry company is of no more use there than it would be in Jacksonville.

THE WEST.

During the past year the Lands disposed of at the Olympia land office amount to 199,163 acres.

The Western Star, a newspaper which was announced as forthcoming at Steilacoom, has made its appearance. J. L. Allan, publisher.

The Boise Indians are coming back to Boise valley in large numbers from the Fort Hall Reservation. Cause assigned, scarcity of rations.

An Olympia paper states "by authority" that Judge Dennison will resign at an early day. It is perhaps better to give up willingly than to wait to be "caught out."

It is said that some Northern Indians are about to make a raid against Indians on Puget Sound to avenge the lives of a party of Northern Indians that was massacred at Dungeness last summer.

The vote in Washington Territory on the question of holding a Convention to frame a Constitution, was very small. The official returns show the following figures: For Convention, 4001; against Convention, 688.

The Oregon Steam Navigation Company, says the British Columbian of the 14th inst., are about to build a first-class winter boat, to take the place of the Wilson G. Hunt. She will be built on the Sound, and will be commenced immediately.

Perilous Adventures and Hair Breadth Escapes.

The following account of a perilous adventure with Indians is from the Osage (Kansas) Chronicle of June 26th. The Schuylers whose gallant conduct and wonderful escape are here recorded are brothers of P. C. Schuyler, Jr., Esq., of this city:

On Monday evening Governor Harvey arrived in our town, bringing the news of the late attack of the Cheyenne Indians upon Col. Greenwood's surveying party. Knowing that our young fellow-townsman, Howard Schuyler, had charge of one of the corps of that party of which his younger brother James, was a member, both sons of Judge P. C. Schuyler, considerable anxiety was felt as to the result of the attack. The stage that same evening brought the additional news that both Howard and James Schuyler were wounded. Next morning Fred. Schuyler started for Sheridan to learn the worst. At this writing he has not returned, but from other sources we learn the following particulars:

The surveying party were out some fifteen miles west of Sheridan on last Saturday morning. Howard and James Schuyler were some ways in advance of the main party when suddenly and unexpectedly a large number of whooping, yelling red devils arose from the grass, surrounding each one of the boys separately. A most desperate hand to hand fight ensued, in which James was very severely wounded. Thrilling and dangerous in the extreme, as was the position of these brothers, yet, they displayed such coolness and bravery that their courage can only be described as "heroic." Alone upon the prairie, twenty miles away from aid, surrounded by yelling, blood thirsty demons, we find nothing but admiration in our minds for the conduct of our friends. The fight became a running one in which the Dog Soldiers discharged their deadly missles from gun and bow so thick, that the "fortune that favors the brave" could only have preserved their lives. No lines of romance could be more thrilling than the description we heard of Howard's race for live. Having left his revolver in camp he had only an eight shooting rifle, and as they pressed upon his fleeing and wounded horse he would turn in his saddle and fire, and at each successive pull of the trigger a brave would bite the dust. A big chief riding along side of him discharged five shots into Howard's clothing and horse, then nearing him exclaimed, "Ugh, you come off." Howard answered, "Ugh I you come off," at the same time shoving the end of his rifle against the Indian's breast and the contents, with a flash, sent the soul of the screeching devil to the bourne where may the rest of them soon follow. So did our brave, noble young friend continue to fire until five of his relentless pursuers had uttered their last whoop. One ball was lodged in the stock of Howard's carbine, another in the heel of his boot, and wonderful as it may seem, he received but two or three slight flesh wounds. The race was kept up until they reached their friends, when one of their horses sunk down exhausted and bleeding. Jimmy was taken into Sheridan, his wounds were properly cared for, and whence he will come home as soon as able, when our citizens may hear from his own lips the recounting of the perils of that morning in which he and his brother displayed a manly and noble courage than which the history of Indian wars give few more startling.

Since the above was put in type Fred. Schuyler returned, bringing additional data and corrections to the above, but nothing that in the least detracts from the brilliancy of the adventure. It appears Howard was alone some three miles in advance of his party. Seeing a large number of ponies, which he took to be wild, in the distance, he rode up toward them, when from fifty to sixty Indians sprang up all around him. Believing that there remained no show for his life he instantly resolved to make it a costly price to his enemies, and before they were able to discern his resolve he had shot two of them dead in their tracks. In the precipitate flight and fight of three miles back to his party he killed two more. The surveying party were afoot, and still some three miles from their wagons. James Schuyler received his wound in the retreat to camp. After reaching the wagons Hod. again turned, laid his gun across a wagon wheel and brought down the fifth Indian. The Indians followed the whole party fifteen miles back to Sheridan. James Schuyler is now at Lawrence and doing well. Other than these items the statement first written is substantially correct.

A correspondent suggests that the inebriated person who proposed to escort his girl to see "Crossington Washing the Delaware," should do so on "Birthington's Washday."

During the election disturbances in Paris, a card was seen on a shop in the boulevard, announcing "Windows to let for to-night's riot. Price, 20f."

An auctioneer, while engaged in his vocation, thus exalted the merits of a carpet: "Gentlemen and ladies, some folks sell carpets for Brussels, but I can most positively assure you that this elegant article was made by Mr. Brussels himself."

As a schoolmaster was employed the other day in Scotland, in his "delightful task" of teaching a sharp urchin to cipher on a slate, the precocious pupil put the following question to his instructor: "Where div a' the figures gang till when they're rubbit out?"
